THE CORAL BOATS' DISASTER.

Nearly a Thousand Drowned.

The commander of the Second Japanese Squadron, who sent the cruiser "Okinawa" in search of the missing coral-boats from Goto Island, has received the following report from the captain of the cruiser on the result of his operations:—
"The search was concluded on Monday afternoon, and no more living survivors can be found. The bodies of four women were found on the West Coast of Okinawa; bodies of sixty-six men on the West Coast, and eighteen on the North Coast. No fewer than 981 bodies were found floating in the water, but were so badly decomposed that it was impossible to pick them up."

A NEW ARTIFICIAL HAND.

Invention by General Nogi.

It is reported that General Nogi, who takes the deepest interest in the officers and men who were disabled in the recent war, has invented a new type of artificial hand. During the visits he has paid to the Shibuya Disabled Soldiers' Home, he is said to have been impressed by the unsatisfactory nature of the appliances supplied to men who have lost their hands. Eventually, in consultation with Cavalry Major Nambu, the General succeeded in devising an artificial hand which enables its holder to pick up articles of most kinds, and even to carry a cup of coffee to his mouth. Baron Ishikawa, retired Surgeon-General, has been much impressed with the device, which he has given the name of the "Nogi artificial hand." The Baron has also submitted a specimen to the Emperor, who has since thanked the General for his clever invention and his practical sympathy with the crippled soldiers.

X RAYS AS HAIR RESTORER.

An article has recently appeared in the Revue Scientifique, dealing with a hitherto unsuspected property of the X rays. For the last two years Professor Imbert, of Montpellier, has been working incessantly at this branch of science, and has noticed with surprise that his hair, which lost all traces of pigmentation some 30 years ago, has recovered its original colour. The learned professor has thus become "rejuvenated" to the extent of some 40 or 20 years.

The case would be interesting as it stands, though the evidence would not be sufficiently cogent to describe the result with any certainty to the X rays. Remarkable confirmation of the discovery has, however, been found by Dr. Marquis. Treatment of a patient for lupus, despite every promulgation, resulted in the falling off of the hair.
In a short time, however, it proceeded to grow again, but exhibited a marked black pigmentation, which made a very strong contrast with the bleached hair on other portions of the scalp.

Professor Imbert suggests that the cause may be that the rays exercise an inhibitory action on, or even destroy, the "chromo-phages of Mechnikoff"—the cells which absorb the pigment granules of the hair.
It is to be hoped that no quick-witted to take advantage of the discovery to market the long-suffering public. It cannot be too often repeated that the X rays may produce the gravest results in the hands of incomp-petent operators and it stands to reason that an effect which had taken so long to discover probably requires a number of unknown pre-determining causes, in the absence of which the rays would be wholly ineffective.
